

Truro Hash House Harriers, Hash No. 1243 ?

Cornish Choughs Camborne

Newsletter written by Cobblers.OE&E !!

I made it 44 gathered at the start.

4 visitors, Grant Williams Justin Dunstan Peter & Nicola Bawden. Were introduced & made welcome in the time honoured manner.

A beautiful sunny evening with a light cooling breeze.

The Hares, Optic & Bo Bos were summoned, Optic gave a reassuring spiel that there were no known hazards, a flat course & it would be dry, "look at my trainers".

Off we went in the direction of Penponds, much petrol was encountered in the narrows of Church rd before the viaduct.

Always a busy rat run. On our way we passed a house Near Penponds I visited many years ago, 25 or more.

It is called The Vicarage or Old Vicarage.

I used called to repair some old valve hifi equipment. The then elderly owner showed me the old music room, maybe 15x15ft, the walls lined from floor to ceiling with shelves containing 12" gramophone records. In the centre of the room was a large wind up record player, the Gramophone, this one was quite special, unlike the normal horn that you would hear the music from it had a paper mashe horn that extended from the music room through the wall into the lounge, in the lounge the horn was about 4ft in diameter, from what I can remember it would have been 15ft long. I will visit the present owners to see it they know or remember this very unusual & collectable machine.

The course took us in the general direction, can't find my OS map & the damn Google Earth won't work but approx way was out towards Carnhell Green & the Roseworthy direction with fine views back towards Camborne & Four Lanes.

The hashers were quite spread out, just ambleing along as usual.

At around half distance there was a Ladies check.
The most fleet of foot set about to find the route.
Another by the name of Luna Tits decided we all needed a good soaking & set about the task of emptying all the puddles. They say there is no show without punch so in his fine style confined water baby, Dishy joined in the fray, that was after he re-joined the hash after visiting a friend along the way & swigging red wine. He got his comeuppance later. We got under way heading north to a very muddy section, thence onto & under a viaduct near a farm, left arrow that some of us notice other seemed to have not seen, we landed up on the road back to the pub. There was much discussion & scratching of heads, what to do. Ok lets go back to the viaduct, the hash halt must be near there. Low & behold we met the other half of the hashers headed by Optic, turn around, back towards the pub, car parked on the right, hash halt. Gasping for liquid & food well all tucked in. Got back to the pub as light was starting to fail. We were greeted by a fine spread & birthday cakes with candles for Bo Bos for his 60th, well done my son. After getting suitably stoked up we went out the back for the down downs, those who transgressed being Furry, Sleezy Snezy, PC69, Droop, Dishy, Bypass, Knobby & Rug Rat. Special congratulations to Rug Rat from receiving from PMT an award for Muck spreading. Knobby's Nuts deserves note for being the most uncouth & shameful member of this nights hash for peeing in front of Luna Tits, I hope that he has seen fit to redress this discussing behaviour. Making a suitable & grovelling apology to the lady in question. There were some notable absentees, Papermate, he would have enjoyed the excellent food. The Mayor & Mayoress of Truro, hard at it, on the weekend & in no fit state to hash.
